New Mental Health Plan Calls For 31.35 Million

Marine Officers To Take 50-Mile 1908 Test Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—At President Kennedy's suggestion, 20 Marine officers will attempt a 50-mile hike next week—to see if they can move forward with the vigor demanded of Leathernecks by President Theodore Roosevelt.

The unusual military exercise, to be conducted at Camp Lejuene, N.C., stemmed from the recent discovery of a long-forgotten executive order in which Roosevelt prescribed fitness standards for Marine officers.

Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine commandant who shares Kennedy's interest in fitness, sent the 54-year-old document to the President as an historic curiosity.

No Advance Warning

Kennedy decided, however, that it was more than a curiosity. He responded with a proposal that Shoup find out "how well our present-day officers perform the tests specified by President Roosevelt."

In a matter of hours, Marine headquarters prepared a detailed directive ordering a test by officers of the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune.

At least 10 captains and 10 lieutenants, selected to provide a representative sample of personnel, will take the test. Shoup warned they should not be told about the experiment in advance.

Once the officers are assembled, they will get these marching orders:

Walk 50 miles in no more than three days, with actual walking time and rest stops limited to 2; hours. Shoup noted, rather pointedly, that some officers of 1908 covered the course in a single day.

Dash To Finish

Upon reaching the final half-mile, the officers must double-time 200 yards, rest for 30 seconds, then double-time for 300 yards, rest a minute, and wind up with a 200-yard dash to the finish line.

Actually, this could be more than a test of Marine vigor. The entire White House staff may have a stake in the results—particularly Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary.

As Kennedy noted in his letter to Shoup, Theodore Roosevelt "laid down such requirements not only for the officers of the Marine Corps but, when possible, for members of his own family, members of his staff and Cabinet and even for unlucky foreign diplomats" who were dragooned into hiking with him through Washington's Rock Creek Park.

The President told Shoup that if the test indicates "that the strength and stamina of the modern Marine is at least equivalent to that of his antecedents, I will then ask Mr. Salinger to look into the matter personally and give me a report on the fitness of the White House staff."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker

Votes Pile Up Against Ruling Party In Canada

OTTAWA (AP)—A tide of votes built up today against Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's government in Canada's nuclear warhead crisis. At least one no-confidence motion appeared to have a good chance to topple the badly split Conservative party from power.

There was a possibility that Diefenbaker, to head off defeat in the House of Commons, would dissolve Parliament on his own initiative and call new elections.

Defeat of the government on a vote of no-confidence would mean dissolution of Parliament shortly after, with a new election about 60 days later.

There was wide agreement among Commons members that the government could not survive a vote.

Showdown Tonight

The crisis, brought to a head last week by a public U.S. State Department demand that Canada accept nuclear warheads, moved toward a climax Monday with the resignation of Defense Minister Douglas Harkness.

Harkness told a packed House of Commons that Canada should have obtained the U.S. warheads long ago.

In the tense debate that followed Harkness' statement, two of Canada's three opposition parites —the Liberals and the Social Credit party—presented motions of no-confidence.

An informal poll indicated that the motion of the Social Credit party could gather enough support to bring down the government when the showdown voting comes tonight. The Social Credit motion was presented as an amendment to the Liberal motion and was to be voted on first.

Missiles In Cuba No Threat, Says Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says "there are undoubtedly missiles in Cuba" but not of the type that would menace the United States.

"Based on the information available to me," he said, "I believe that there are no surface missiles in Cuba threatening this country today."

McNamara made his comments well in advance of a new series of statements from Congress members last weekend about the extent of Soviet military strength in Cuba. Publication of the interview, given a week ago, was delayed until Monday to permit security clearance.

One issue of the controversy is just how many Soviet troops are in Cuba. President Kennedy has estimated 17,000. Some legislators have expressed belief there are many more.

Troops Digging In?

McNamara would not be drawn into that question. He said he would rather not comment on the presence of Soviet troops or reports they seem to be digging in to stay.

But he declared that one reason for the maze of persistent reports on ballistics missiles in Cuba may be confusion over the various kinds of missiles that are there.

"The reports perhaps confuse ground-to-ground, intermediate-range ballistics missiles (a type the United States considers offensive) on the one hand with the other types of missiles which undoubtedly are stocked in Cuba," he said.

Of this latter category, McNamara ticked off five kinds:

"1. Air defense missiles.

"2. Air-to-air missiles used by fighters to attack other fighters.

"3. Surface-to-sea missiles used for coastal defense purposes.

"4. Missiles for coastal defense purposes fired from patrol-type boats.

"5. Ground-to-ground missiles for short range use against troops in the field."

Claims Disputed

Said McNamara: "It is entirely probable that missiles of these classes exist in Cuba, and it seems probable that the reports . . . are based on that probability."

The missile issue was brought up again Monday by Rep. Donald C. Bruce, R-Ind.

He told the House he has information from friendly diplomats indicating that 40 or more Soviet intermediate-range missiles—capable of striking American cities—are still in Cuba. These, he said, are in addition to the 42 the Soviet said it put in Cuba and removed after the threatening days of the crisis.

The Defense Department swiftly disputed Bruce's contention, declaring: "No friendly government has so informed the United States. There remains no credible evidence to support his statement."

In reply, Bruce suggested "they talk to the State Department. They better get their heads together."

Program Set Up To Lighten Toll Of Retardation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy urged today bold new programs he said would eventually free hundreds of thousands of mental patients from hospital beds and lighten the tragic toll of mental retardation.

The cost for the first year would be $31.35 million, but it might cost many millions more when the program accelerates.

His proposals were in a special message to Congress on mental health — the first such message sent to Capitol Hill by an American president.

New Community Centers

Kennedy asked for an across-the-board legislative program for:

New community mental health centers, the centerpiece for bringing the mentally ill back to a useful life, and preventing new cases earlier.

More pre-natal care for mothers-to-be to help insure their infants will not be doomed to mental retardation.

More child health care to detect and treat threatened cases earlier.

More trained personnel and facilities for training and rehabilitation of the mentally ill and retarded.

More research centers to get at the causes and, hopefully, the cures.

Specifically, the President intends to introduce four new bills, one of them not to be fully implemented until the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1964.

Construction Costs Shared

That bill would encourage state or local governments or non-profit groups to establish networks of community mental health centers. It would provide part of the construction costs and up to 75 per cent of the staff costs for the first 15 months, decreasing thereafter for the rest of the four-year program. There is no price tag for this program.

It now costs the American taxpayer more than $2.4 billion a year for services to the mentally ill and retarded, the President said.

Within a decade or two, the President said, a broad, new mental health program can reduce by at least half the 600,000 hospitalized mental patients.

"Many more mentally ill can be helped to remain in their own homes without hardship to themselves or their families," he said. "Those who are hospitalized can be helped to return to their own communities. All but a small proportion can be restored to useful life."

Studies Ordered

The community mental health center can be the focus of care, diagnosis, rehabilitation and emergency service, he said. It would operate day and night, for inpatients and outpatients. It would aim at prevention as well as treatment.

Such centers, using new methods of treatment and tranquilizers, will reduce the treatment periods to weeks or months, rather than years, the President said. This means that mental illness could be paid for as other medical and hospital costs.

The President said he has directed that a study be made to explore ways for encouraging expansion of private health insurance to include mental health care.

Several programs were recommended by the President to help prevent some of the 126,000 annual new cases of mental retardation, and to rehabilitate and care for some 200,000 mentally retarded now in institutions.

Many Democrats For Constitution, Romney Reports

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney says he knows of several prominent Democrats who secretly support the proposed new constitution—but he's not telling anyone who they are.

"I think they'll name themselves as time goes on," the governor told newsmen Monday. "All I will say is that I've had instances of them coming to me and telling me they're for it."

The Democratic Party, at its convention in Grand Rapids over the weekend, formally adopted a resolution opposing the proposed document and calling for its defeat by voters on April 1.

At the convention, former Gov. John Swainson offered to debate Romney at "any time, any place" on the constitution. Romney gave strong indication Monday he would not accept the challenge—but he didn't reject the idea flatly.

"I don't plan to engage in any discussion the purpose of which is to further the idea the proposed new Constitution is a partisan issue," said Romney.

He said he had made no decision on the immediate question of a debate with Swainson — with whom he clashed in three television debates during the election campaign—but added:

"I haven't completely closed the door. But my statement that I don't want to further the constitution as a partisan issue applies to this particular situation. I'll let it stand for the time being."

Atlantic Storm Batters Shipping

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A slow-moving winter storm lashed the Atlantic today. Twenty-foot waves and 50-mile winds endangered more than a half-dozen ships and hobbled attempts at rescue.

The storm also pushed heavy breakers onto valuable ocean-front property, battering resorts and swallowing yards of beach.

Coast Guard craft were trying to rescue ships from the tip of Florida to the Carolinas. Gale warnings flew most of the way but heavy seas gave the rescuers almost as much trouble as the rescued.

Tides ran two to four feet above normal along the Carolinas, Georgia and northeast Florida Monday with flooding and considerable erosion, the Weather Bureau said.

The Coast Guard said towering waves made rescues ticklish. "We've got just about everything that will run out there," one officer said.

Before sweeping across Florida from the Gulf of Mexico, the storm sank a trawler, drowning three men. Six others were rescued.

Among the craft in trouble in the Atlantic were: the shrimp boat Mingo, the tanker Texico Illinois, the fishing vessel Sultana II, and the fishing vessel Tiger Shark.

Gov. Romney Asks Quick Passage Of Bill To Aid Needy

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has set the stage for the first acid test of his influence among legislators by calling for immediate enactment of a bill qualifying Michigan for Federal Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed.

In a special message to the legislature, the governor Monday night asked for swift passage of a tightened-up version of the proposal which Republicans have killed three times in the last two years.

"Immediate enactment," Romney said, "can provide added assistance for some of our most needy families and can also result in immediate savings to local units of government of almost $9 million..."

Savings For State

The program, already in effect in 15 states, would transfer families now on direct relief to federal assistance, to be administered by the state.

Welfare costs to the state would not increase and Michigan would realize a net savings of about $77,000 after spending some $900,000 to administer the program, Romney told lawmakers.

Immediate reaction among legislators was mixed, although some Republicans who have vigorously ADC-U seemed receptive to Romney's proposal.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said he believes the enabling legislation has a good chance of passing the House in three to four weeks, after scrutiny by the Social Welfare and Ways and Means committees.

"A lot of objectionable features of earlier ADC-U proposals appear to have been cleaned up," said Green.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City, chairman of Ways and Means, also said the bill has a good chance of getting through the legislature, and Sen. Frank Beadle, R-St. Clair, chairman of Senate appropriations, said he probably would support it.

Democrats Pleased

House minority leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said Democrats were "pleased that Romney agrees with us on the need for this program" and pledged his party's support.

Rep. Carroll Newton, R-Delton, said the governor's message urging ADC-U didn't change his views and stated he will continue to oppose it.

"But," he said, "I suppose it will pass, even though there's been some grumbling about it."

Two proposed ADC-U enabling bills already have been introduced but Romney's own was to be introduced in the House today by Rep. William Doorn, R-Grand Rapids, and Engstrom, with some 16 other names attached.

Romney's message clearly was designed to head off GOP opposition by emphasizing, in its opening paragraphs, his aversion to "further concentration of responsibility in the federal government.

"I also believe that when a federal program is available, we should take every opportunity to use it, consistent with other aspects of prudence and justice," he said.

Joining Newton in opposition to the proposal was Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, who said he feared Michigan, by getting involved in a federal program, might have to end up shouldering the burden for good.

Over 10,000 Families

Among the changes from previous bills received with favor by Green and other GOP leaders were provisions that the federal program be extended through 1967, that states set their own definitions of unemployment, and that states be required to retrain unemployed parents.

Romney also cited provisions that states may deny aid if unemployed parents already collect compensation, cannot give it if the parent refuses a bonafide job offer, and must make efforts to speed the parent's return to work.

The governor estimated that some 10,130 families in Michigan will qualify for ADC-U, with an average monthly payment of $167 per family. Current averages are $128 per month in rural areas up to $168 per month in urban areas for regular state-and-local ADC support.

He recommended that all direct relief families in which there are children under 18 and in which the family head can work but is unemployed and on jobless compensation since Jan. 1, 1958, may be eligible.

Cuba-Bound Ships Watched By Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authorities said today every ship route into Cuba is watched by patrol planes and the Navy feels sure no vessels have slipped into Cuban ports undetected since the blockade.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., implied last week that two Soviet vessels which arrived in Cuba recently may have eluded surveillance. One of them unloaded arms, he said.

Keating said these ships followed a "maximum security route" which he said passed through areas "where the United States is least able to maintain adequate surveillance."

Usually reliable Navy sources, preferring to remain anonymous, said Keating probably is referring to a ship route entering the Caribbean between Venezuela and Puerto Rico.

These sources did not dispute that ships steaming this route might sometimes pass beyond the area covered by U.S. patrol planes.

But they said such vessels would be sighted—no matter how roundabout their route into the Caribbean—when approaching the few Cuban deep water ports.

Navy patrols fly day and night surveillance missions from Jacksonville, Fla., Key West, Fla., the Guantanamo naval base on the eastern end of Cuba, and from Puerto Rico. This, the Navy says, gives complete coverage of the waters around Cuba. The planes carry night vision infrared cameras.

Also on watch is a sizable force of Navy ships, plus units of the Coast Guard.

Head Of Woman Found In Cellar At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The recently severed head of a woman was found in the cellar of a vacant house Monday by a truck driver who said he was looking for old coins.

George Siegmann, 44, told police he found the head in a brown paper bag in a coal bin.

The head was turned over to the medical examiner's office where a spokesman described it as apparently that of a red-haired white woman in her 50s. The spokesman said it had been severed about a week ago.

Clevenger Quits Democratic Post

LANSING (AP)—Raymond Clevenger announced his resignation Monday as manager of the Democratic party's spring campaign.

Clevenger, commissioner of the Corporations and Securities Commission, said he wanted to devote his energies to supporting Paul Adams' candidacy for the State Supreme Court.

The newly-elected Democratic State Chairman, Zolton Ferency, said he accepted Clevenger's resignation with reluctance, because he was "doing an outstanding job."

Clevenger, a strong supporter of former State Chairman John Collins, acknowledged he was disappointed when Ferency won his surprise victory at the weekend convention in Grand Rapids.

But the commissioner told a newsman he was not angry about the outcome. "I have no bitterness," he said. "It was a fair fight, and Zolton ran a good campaign."

After Collins' loss, Clevenger said, "the picture did change." He and Ferency had mutual respect for one another, he said, "but I didn't happen to agree with him this time."

Clevenger said he had conferred with party officials, including Ferency, before deciding to step down as campaign manager.

The commissioner said he was one of many Democrats who "feel strongly that Paul Adams should be on the Supreme Court, and I want to be leading the support for Adams."

Clevenger and Adams were law partners in Sault Ste. Marie.

Polaris Guidance Capsules Aboard Wrecked Airplane

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The Albuquerque Journal said today in a Washington dispatch that the classified cargo aboard a Slick Airline transport plane which crashed in San Francisco Sunday was two Polaris guidance capsules.

The Journal, quoting Lt. Barry Trebor-McConnell of the Navy, said the Polaris guidance capsules were believed to be en route from the General Electric plant in Pittsfield, Mass., to the Lockheed Aircraft plant at Sunnyville, Calif.

John Neal of the Pittsfield plant was among four survivors of the crash. Four other men were killed.

Detroit Airman Held As Killer

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—A murder charge was filed Monday against a Detroit teen-ager, absent without leave from the Air Force, in connection with the slaying Sunday of a deputy sheriff who was taking him to jail.

Arthur Rittenhouse, 19, appeared before Pottawatomie County Judge Charles Henry who ordered the youth held without bond pending preliminary hearing Feb. 28.

Rittenhouse was charged with shooting to death O. N. Smith, 54.

The youth was picked up soon after the shooting.

Officers gave this account:

Smith arrested Rittenhouse at Dale, Okla., for carrying a rifle along the highway. He searched Rittenhouse but failed to discover a .25 caliber automatic pistol in a shoulder holster.

Smith handcuffed Rittenhouse, placed him in the patrol car and started toward the county jail here.

In a statement Rittenhouse said: "I pulled the automatic and told the sheriff to stop the car and keep his hands on the wheel. He reached for my gun, then I shot him four times. He shot at me once."

Hoffa's Bonding Problem Solved By Indiana Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's reported bonding problems, apparently were solved Monday when an Indianapolis bonding firm announced it will write 95 per cet of the surety bonds covering Hoffa and other national and local officers of the union.

Frank Wright Sr., president of United Bonding Co., told reporters here that his firm will issue bonds up to its capacity of $60,000 per person and will seek reinsurance elsewhere for anyone needing bond in excess of that amount.

Hoffa charged last week that the Justice Department was exerting pressure on bonding companies to prevent them from insuring Teamsters' funds. Later, however, he told a congressional committee that he had no first-hand knowledge of this.

Third Man Given Life Sentence In Roseville Killing

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Keneth D. Funke, 24, of St. Clair Shores, Monday was given a life sentence for second degree murder in the 1960 death of a Roseville woman during a motel holdup.

Police said Funke admitted he drove the get-away car while two others, who later were convicted of first degree murder, went to rob the motel in Roseville.

Mrs. Alberdiena Boll, 55, wife of the motel owner, was killed by a shotgun blast as she tried to flee the robbery. Her husband, Anton, 57, was pistol-whipped.

Delta Bar Backs Clair J. Hoehn For Circuit Judge

Clair J. Hoehn

Attorney Clair J. Hoehn of Gladstone was endorsed by the Delta County Bar Association at a luncheon meeting in the House of Ludington on Monday for appointment to the judgeship of the 25th Judicial Circuit.

The circuit embraces Delta and Marquette counties and the vacancy on its bench was created by the death Jan. 28 of Judge Carroll Rushton of Marquette.

The appointment of a new judge will be made by Gov. George Romney until the next election.

The Marquette County Bar meeting last night in the Union National Bank Lounge in Marquette unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Atty. Bernard Davidson, 50, of the firm of Davidson, Clancy & Hansen of Negaunee, for the judgeship. He and Hoehn are the only announced candidates for the appointment.

Hoehn is an associate of Attorneys Wheaton L. Strom and Dean Shipman in the legal firm of Strom, Hoehn and Shipman of Escanaba and Gladstone.

He was born Jan. 8, 1920 in Sharpsville, Penn., and attended Columbus North High School and Ohio State University. He was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree and with honors in speech and classical languages.

He served in the Army in 1942-45, spending 18 months in North Africa, 6 months in Italy and a year in France and left service with the rank of sergeant. His wife, whom he met in service, the former Fidelia Killmar of Lake Linden, Mich., was a lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps in charge of nurses in an Army hospital in Germany.

Hoehn attended the University of Michigan Law School in 1946-48 and was graduated with an LLB degree and was admitted to the practice of law in Michigan by Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone and opened an office in Gladstone at 821½ Delta Ave., Jan. 2, 1949.

He is president of the Gladstone Board of Education and city attorney of Gladstone, a member of the Gladstone Industrial and Armory Committees; of the F&AM, the Lions Club, American Legion, Gladstone Yacht Club and Gladstone Golf Club, and a former president of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce. He is a past president and current secretary of the Delta County Bar Association and a former Delta County Circuit Court commissioner.

The Hoehns, of 914 Dakota Ave., Gladstone, have four children, Jean Marie, 14; Clair William, 11; Susan Clair, 10; and Frederick Arthur, 5.

New Constitution Is Topic Of Talk At Kiwanis Club

Some of the changes embodied in the new Michigan Constitution, which will be up for a vote of the people April 1, were discussed by Charles L. Follo at the Escanaba Kiwanis Club meeting Monday. Follo was one of the 144 delegates to the Constitutional Convention and served on the education and the local government committees.

Much needless detail has been eliminated in the new state document, Follo said, and the size nas been cut down to 16,000 words. The Declaration of Rights chapter is "one of the best to be found anywhere", he declared. Provision is made for a commission in civil rights which will hear compalints on charges of discrimination.

The new constitution does away with spring elections, thus saving the state about a million dollars a year. Under the new apportionment provisions, Delta county would conceivably combine with some other county to qualify for population to elect a state representative. Reapportionment of districts is scheduled every 10 years.

In the executive department of the state, the new constitution cuts down the number of state boards and agencies and gives more appointive powers to the governor. Most other states have appointive systems that are working out well, Follo stated. The state highway commissioner would be appointed by a bi-partisan highway board. Offices of secretary of state and attorney general would continue to be elective.

The Kiwanis program Monday was arranged by Earl Owen.

Select Bay Cliff As Club Project

ISHPEMING—Bay Cliff Health Camp, the summer therapy center for physically handicapped children of the Upper Peninsula, has been chosen by the Ishpeming-Negaunee Junior Chamber of Commerce as the recipient of the major portion of the proceeds of this year's Koral Kapers, to be presented at 8 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 16, in the Ishpeming High School auditorium.

Considering Bay Cliff as a possible beneficiary ,the Jaycees learned that needs of the camp require expenditure of reasonably large sums of money.

Installation of indoor plumbing in two of the boys' housing units is required. Laundry facilities would also be welcomed as all laundry now has to be sent out. Another project planned for this summer is construction of a pool which will serve as a hydrotherapy facility and also a reservoir to be used as a source of water in case of fire.

Thirteen of 15 major expeditions attempting to climb Mount Everest have been turned back.

U.P. Hunt Clubs Want Bounties, Nov. 15 Deer Hunt

NEGAUNEE — The Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association wants the deer season to open throughout the state on the Saturday preceding Nov. 15.

Delegates to the association's midwinter meeting here Sunday voted unanimously in favor of extending the Saturday opening to both Peninsulas.

The NMSA last year won a long battle when the Legislature approved the Saturday opening for the Upper Peninsula, but an amendment to the bill excluded the eastern third of the U. P. from the provisions. Thus, the Upper Peninsula last year had its first split deer season. The season opened on the Saturday preceding Nov. 15 (which was Nov. 10 last year) in the western two-thirds of the U. P. and on the traditional Nov. 15 opening date in the rest of the state.

Now, the association will push to have the Saturday opening on a state-wide basis.

In other action, delegates voted 23 to 4, with four clubs abstaining, to return to the one buck law in the Upper Peninsula.

The vote followed a lengthy discussion in which Ronald Hayes of the Negaunee Rod & Gun Club asserted that the buck kill in the Escanaba District (Marquette and Delta Counties and the west half of Alger) has declined steadily since the inception of antlerless deer seasons in 1956.

Better Managed

William E. Laycock, Marquette, regional game supervisor for the Conservation Department, said that six times as many antlerless deer have been taken in the Lower Peninsula as in the Upper, but that the buck kill has held up downstate. "This is because they are harvesting the herd in the Lower Peninsula instead of wasting it," Laycock said. "They are maintaining a more productive range."

Delegates from the 13 affiliated clubs present voted unanimously to reaffirm their stand in favor of continuing the bounty system.

But they reversed themselves on a proposal to cut the ruffed grouse season to 20 days. This proposal was passed at the NMSA's annual fall convention, but yesterday delegates defeated it, 25 to 11.

They also voted in favor of extending the hare season to March 20 (it now closes on March 1), 29 to 7.

A proposal sponsored by the Conservation Department to require a resident fishing license for all anglers over 17 years of age, thus eliminating free licensed for wives of licensed fishermen, was unanimously defeated, but a proposal to establish a three-day license for non-residents for $2 was approved.

Earl H. Clark, Houghton, NMSA president, discussed a proposal to extend the trespass act to protect large industrial forest land owners from financial liability in accidents involving any person enjoying outdoor recreation on those lands. Delegates reaffirmed their stand in favor of the proposal.

Ban Spotlighting

Delegates also voted to:

1. Finance one-half of the Conservation Department's administrative costs from the general fund.

2. Return to the Game and Fish Protection Fund revenues derived from mineral rights on lands that were purchased with money from the game and fish protection fund.

3. Amend existing laws to make it illegal to use an artficial light in attempting to spot game while having a firearm or bow in a car.

4. Eliminate the option of allowing hunters carrying weapons dissassembled in lieu of having firearms encased or carried in the trunk of the car.

5. Reduce the creel limit on muskelllunge from two to one on inland waters.

6. Shorten the muskellunge season on inland waters to June 1 to Oct. 1.

Lowe Endorsed

7. Prohibit the spearing of muskies in inland waters.

8. Outlaw the use of large Connibear traps and other traps of its size and design, which are a hazard to children.

9. Extend the raccoon trapping season to conform with the trapping season on mink and muskrat.

10. Change the mink hunting season to coincide with the mink trapping season.

11. Make the small game license valid from Sept. 1 to Aug. 31 to match the period covered by the bear hunting stamp.

12. Permit the use of up to five lines (with no more than five hooks) by each ice fisherman.

13. Endorse the reappointment of Kenneth S. Lowe, Marquette, to the conservation commission.

14. Delegates voted against a proposal to permit early hunting seasons on experimental areas authorized by law to aid game research.

15. Accepted "with regret" the resignation of Paul Moffatt, Ishpeming, as NMSA district vice president. He resigned for reasons of health.

The 13 clubs represent at yesterday's meeting: Channing Rod and Gun Club, Chassell Sportsmen's Club, Doncken Sportsmen's Club, Houghton Rod and Gun Club, Marquette Rod & Gun Club, Menominee Conservation Club, Munising-Alger Conservation Club, Negaunee Rod & Gun Club, Norway Restoration Association, Ottawa Sportsmen's Club, Sagola Township Sportsmen's Club, Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club and Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's Club.

Blood Bank Opens; Need More Donors

The Red Cross bloodmobile today is in Gladstone in its first visit to Delta County in 1963 and the citizens of the county must provide 365 pints of blood in three days to meet the quota.

Since the number of persons who have signed as donors will not provide the amount of blood required to meet the county's quota, individuals are encouraged to walk in and give blood at any time during the clinic hours.

The procurement unit was set up today at the James T. Jones School at Gladstone. The quota for the day was 95 pints and there were 42 persons signed as donors.

Tomorrow (Wednesday) the procurement clinic will be at First Presbyterian Church in Escanaba from 2:30 to 7:30 p. m. The quota for the day is 135 pints and only 112 donors have signed up for the day, indicating the need for additional volunteers.

On Thursday the clinic will continue at the First Presbyterian Church with the hours 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., the quota for the day is 135 pints of blood, and only 51 persons registered as donors.

There is the hope that Delta County can this year improve its support of the blood bank, which was 76 per cent last year. The quota for the county last year was 1,460 pints and the collections were 1,112 pints.

"Other communities in the Badger Blood Bank area had to make up the missing 24 per cent," said Mrs. Edward C. Olsen, Escanaba, Red Cross blood procurement promotion chairman. "Delta County residents should not expect people of other counties not only to do their share but ours as well. More first-time donors are needed if Delta is to come closer to meeting its obligation."

Appointments are not necessary and individuals may walk into the bloodmobile when they are in the clinic area. The donor is given a health check first and the entire process (including coffee, rolls and a rest) requires less than an hour.

Through membership in the Badger Blood Bank, sponsored by the Delta County Chapter of the Red Cross, Delta County residents receive free blood in any hospital in the nation. Only charge made for blood is that of the hospital for administration.

Deer Surviving Well Thus Far

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's deer herd is surviving the winter well thus far this season despite temperatures dipping at times to 30 below and snow accumulations of up to two feet.

"This isn't necessarily bad for the deer unless combined with other adverse factors," said Dale Jenkins, deer specialist with the Conservation Department.

The deer still are able to move out of their yards to find browse. There have been no starvation reports as yet.

The crucial period for the herd will come in late February or early March.

Most of the browse will be cropped off by that time. Wet, cold weather could lead to pneumonia among the weakened deer, just as in humans.

A sudden, freezing rain could leave an icy crust on the snow, making it difficult for the deer to move about.

Such adverse conditions force the deer to burn up the last of their energy. The weakest deer fail first and every extra day of unfavorable conditions takes its toll.

The department estimates the winter kill of deer last year was about 30,000. This was bad—but the starvation kill has been up to 50,000.

Winter timber cuttings are being carried out in state parks and forest lands as an assist to the deer. The whitetails soon find out where the cuttings are being carried on and flock in to feed on the tender tips of the trees.

Some artificial feeding also is being carried out by operators of private shooting reserves in Michigan's club country.

Michigan also has a new ace in the hole to help out the deer in the event of an emergency.

The government now has authorized the feeding of surplus corn when a deer famine threatens. Last year, with the program just getting started, 126 feeding permits were issued and more than 17,000 bushels of surplus corn were released to feed the deer herd.

The Kodiak bear is said to be the largest meat-eating animal in the world.

Escanaba Parish Men Plan Retreat

Official opening of the Marquette Diocesan Retreat House at Garden on Feb. 8 will find a delegation of men from the five Escanaba parishes in attendance. Each parish expects to send 11, a capacity group for Marygrove. Parish promoters have been busy for weeks lining up their prospects, with Al Houle of St. Joseph's Parishes coordinator of the retreat accepting reservations for the weekend up to Thursday evening.

The closed retreat idea has developed at Marygrove over the years and necessitated the building of a new wing last year to accommodate the numbers who go there for a weekend of spiritual renewal. The 1963 program will extend to the end of November and will include groups of men, women, husbands and wives, high school students, business girls and the clergy.

A special feature of this year's program will be a retreat exclusively for non-catholics to be held on the weekend of Aug. 16-18. Both husbands and wives will be invited to make this retreat.

On the weekend of Feb. 15-17, the Rev. Leo Kinsella, noted lecturer and author, will conduct the first Cana retreat of the season for married couples. Marygrove's rector announces that couples have been signed up from cities as remote as Muskegon and Kaukauna, Wis. Reservations are still open for this weekend and may be had by calling Marygrove at Garden.

Plan $110,000 Drainage Program At Menominee

MENOMINEE — Kirby Creek, the biggest drainage problem in the northwest section of the city, may, at long last, become only a covered ditch.

The Michigan Aeronautics Commission has announced that approval had been given a joint Menominee County Airport-Kirby Creek drainage project which will cost an estimated $110,000.

The project calls for an airport drainage improvement that will lower the water table in the area of the administration building and hangars by as much as two feet.

Water drained from the airport would be channeled into an enclosed 48-inch storm water main along Kirby Creek to the present enclosure of the creek in the neighborhood of 15th Street.

The Street and then the creek is open through the Wells Lumber Company yards and on to Green Bay.

Patients admitted to St. Francis Hospital on Monday included: Mike Kehl, 501 1st Ave. N.; Kevin Peterson, 224 N. 19th St.; Ann Thivierge, 1502 Michigan Ave., Gladstone; Mrs. Bernadette Couillard, Rte. 1, Escanaba; John Lynaugh, Rte. 1, Escanaba; Andrew Hytinen, Rapid River; and Francis Lynts of Manistique.

4-H Achievement Scoring Changed

Leaders representing all 32 4-H Clubs in Delta County attended a meeting at the Delta County Building last night at which County 4-H Leader Larry Bradford and Miss Ingrid Tervonen, home demonstration agent, told of the new method of 4-H achievement judging.

The new system has been in some other parts of the state for a year or two and is expected to become statewide. It shifts the emphasis in judgment upon achievements in 4-H projects from a sole basis of the product quality to add consideration of the human element.

The 60 leaders attending the meeting were told that the new judging system will be used in evaluating the winter projects work, which is chiefly in three fields, garments, handcrafts and electrical apparatus.

Rather than evaluate finished products only, leaders will consider the 4-H members background and progress in the learning process in their grading.

A new method of certifying achievement is also planned, with leaders handling certification instead of the 4-H office. In the honors system the old method of giving county honor stickers for certificates of achievement in the top rank, and local honor stickers for certificates of achievement in the top rank, and local honor stickers for mid-range achievements and no stickers to about half the achievers, leaders will now exercise discretion in the award of stickers and may honor the whole membership.

Teachers Average Salary Is $5,735

The nation's public school teachers this year will earn an average annual salary of $5,735, or $220 more than last school year.

The figures are estimates compiled from all 50 states by the National Education Association.

Although the estimated average salary hike represents a four per cent increase over the average salary of $5,515 paid in the 1961-62 school year, it is the smallest pay hike in the last eight years.

Elementary school teachers are still being paid less than teachers in the high schools, but the gap is narrowing. Ten years ago they earned 85 per cent of what the high school teachers did, this year the percentage is up to 93.

The Far West is still paying the highest salaries to instructional staff members. The average there is $7,161, followed by averages of $6,546 in the Middle Atlantic states, $6,114 in the Middle states, $6,099 in New England, $5,557 in the Southwest, $5,166 in the Northwest, and $4,750 in the Southeastern states.

Western Europe's Cold Fatal To 553

By The Associated Press

Snow slides killed 17 Japanese Tuesday raising the death toll to at least 110 in Japan's worst winter in years.

At least 12 more persons were reported to have died in the arctic freeze gripping Western Europe, bringing the unofficial toll there to 553.

Wolves were reported invading France for the first time in nine years. Elephants in an English zoo were given rum to keep them alive.

In Tokyo, national police said 12 Japanese are missing and 143 others have been injured in the blizzards that have lasted nearly a month.

Snow piled high on the hills started crumbling in various parts of the snow-stricken areas along Japan's northwest coast.

Some 12,000 troops and thousands of workers were digging out railway tracks but the National Railway Administration said it did not expect to restore long-distance traffic in the area for several days.

Weathermen predicted that the worst of Japan's snowfall was over but said warmer weather was expected and would precipitate more avalanches.

In Paris, experts said wolves, driven by the cold from the mountains of Poland and Czechoslovakia, are traveling west at a rate of 60 miles a day. One was killed in eastern France and others were reported sighted.

Buzzards attacked people in eastern France. Wild dogs killed 27 sheep and 12 lambs near Rodez, only 80 miles from France's Mediterranean coast.

Soldiers and police struggled to clear Austrian roads, made impassable by avalanches.

A thaw brought floods in Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

A huge slide of rain-loosened earth buried the 45 buildings in the Greek village of Starna, but police shots warned the 350 residents and all fled to safety, driving their livestock with them.

Robert Kennedy Fails To Answer Harvard '48 Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Because he's a bit busy these days, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy may never get around to answering that questionnaire from the Harvard class of 1948.

So his old classmates may never get his answers to such burning questions as: "For whom did you vote in the 1960 presidential election?"

Or—"If we were to elect a president today, whom would you prefer to see elected?'

Or—"What do you think of the present administration?"

The questionnaire, being used for a 15th anniversary class report, was addressed to the man who is a brother of, managed the 1960 presidential campaign of, serves in the Cabinet of and is the closest confidant of President Kennedy.

The attorney general also got a letter chiding him for failing to answer earlier question sheets.

"In case they are buried among your unpaid bills," says the letter, "we are enciosing another regular questionnaire."

If Kennedy doesn't return the question blank, the Harvard class of 1948 may never learn how he really feels about being head of the Justice Department.

Question No. 4 is: "Are you satisfied with (a) your vocational field? (b) the organization? (c) your position in the organization?"

John Swainson's Triumph

The public got a revealing look at the inside of Democratic politics in Michigan in the weekend convention of the party at Grand Rapids.

Former Governor John B. Swainson got out of a hospital sick bed to rouse the convention to support of his candidate, Zolton Ferency, for state Democratic chairman.

Thus he dumped Joe Collins, who managed last November's campaign in which Swainson was defeated by George Romney, while all the Democrats running with Swainson for state office were re-elected. The campaign was notable for the lack of aid given to Swainson by his party and its leaders, who kept wishing that Soapy Williams was still running.

When Swainson backed the drive to oust Democratic State Chairman Joe Collins, Congressman Neil Staeber, the kingmaker of the Soapy Williams days of Democratic invincibility, came rushing home from Washington to practice his old black political magic, but it didn't work.

* * *

While Staebler, U. S. Senators Pat McNamara and Philip Hart, the Democratic State Administrative Board and many of the Old Guard of Michigan Democratic leadership were backing Collins, Swainson stampeded the convention into ousting Staebler's protege. The manner of its doing was slick.

Senator Hart, Lt. Governor T. John Lesinski, Attorney General Frank Kelley, Secretary of State Hare, State Treasurer Sanford Brown, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Auditor General Billie Farnum and a representative of Congressman Staebler, the Democratic national committeeman, were meeting in a Grand Rapids hotel 5 blocks from the convention in the Civic Auditorium to confer with Swainson when he by-passed their assembly and took his plea directly to the convention.

The victory of Ferency was a triumph for Gus Scholle's United Auto Workers-CIO as well as for Swainson. Labor was squabbling about which side to support in the Democratic split when Scholle, president of the UAW-CIO, suggested that Swainson be named party chairman as a "compromise" candidate. Swainson, who became governor because labor favored his nomination, rejected that and the UAW-CIO finally backed his man, Ferency.

* * *

The kettle which blew up at Grand Rapids has been steaming for some time. Ferency is Swainson's former executive secretary and as a Collins aide was assigned to coordinate the Democratic leaders' drive against voter approval of the proposed new state constitution to be voted April 1. The job was created to calm the troubled political situation in the Democratic camp but Ferency quit as a salaried aide in the Collins headquarters last week saying that he would return to the private practice of law.

Reported working with Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, Democratic national committeewomen and UAW official in the "dump Collins" drive was Joseph Walsh, a UAW public relations man and Swainson speech writer, who was said to be miffed because a scheduled appointment for him as an $18,000 a year White House aide has been delayed, if not blocked by Staebler and Collins.

Before the convention much of the simmering was traced to Democratic workers' dissatisfaction with Staebler, who was reported becoming too powerful in too many areas.

Immediate result of the explosion will be toughening of the Democratic party line in the Michigan Legislature and a hammer-and-tongs battle over the new constitution, which Swainson opposes as though it were the Communist Manifesto, while it is championed by Gov. George Romney, an officer of the constitutional convention, and by many Democrats.

Introducing Speakers

Ned Flanders, professor of education at the University of Michigan, has been introduced so often (and so poorly, apparently) that he remarks publicly upon the state of introductions of speakers in America. All speakers will be apt to share his view and hope that the views will come to the attention of persons who feel that they are called upon to eulogize a speaker in introducing him.

All that's necessary with a speaker is to identify him for the audience and to warn it that he's going to speak, but most toastmasters won't settle for this. They feel that it is necessary to review the speaker's life and attainments, mention his family and explain, often at some length, that he is a very good speaker indeed and that the audience is very fortunate in being able to listen to him.

This is completely unnecessary. As soon as he starts speaking the audience will know if he can speak well, the big buildup makes him seem even worse than he is, and the lack of it would have cushioned the audience's disappointment in hearing another duddo.

Professor Flanders says that making introductions about speakers is a social ritual that comes down to us from the Stone Ages when it was believed wise to ascribe supernatural powers to the chief of one tribe when he went to visit another tribe in order to compensate for his obvious shortcomings and bummy appearance.

"One way to look at introductions," says Flanders "is to assume that the more elaborate the introduction the more worried everyone must be about the outcome. Audiences, of course, grew skeptical of introductions years ago and would be much better off if the meeting started with the listeners playing leapfrog as this is designed for the needs of the audience and not those of the person making the introduction."

If Flanders can get this idea over with the dinner trade he will provide a national benefit. It is a reminder to toastmasters that to flatter a speaker, just identify him for the audience, don't, by overpraising him, show your fear that he'll lay an omelette.

Friends Of Michigan

Dan F. Gerber, president of Gerber Baby Foods, has a name as familiar on lists of leaders of Michigan development projects as bluebirds in spring.

The management genius which has made such a big, good thing of Gerber Baby Foods has been liberally used in the cause of helping Michigan. Latest benefaction to his home state is construction of Gerber Products Co.'s new research facility at Fremont. Last year Gerber Products announced plans to move its research facilities from Oakland, Calif., to Fremont. The new facilities will be ready for use next fall and 100 new employes will be added there to the present Fremont staff of nearly 1,200.

Gerber has grown on research. Nearly half its sales of $152.6 million in 1962 were products introduced since 1945. The public may think of research in terms of far out, basic questing for scientific phenomena, but Gerber applies it practically to its world famed line of baby foods.

An example is Gerber Meat Base Formula, which supplies vital protein nutrients to infants which cannot tolerate milk and are thus denied milk proteins. It has meant the difference between healthy and sickly babies in some cases.

Born Too Late?

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (N E A) — Though it is scarcely mentioned in President Kennedy's first three major messages to Congress, a lot of labor legislation might be stirred up in this session of Congress.

AFL - CIO President George Meany has in the past opposed opening up existing labor laws. He fears this would loose a Pandora's box of amendments which would only make a bad situation worse, ending with more troubles for unions.

The big organization's legislative counsel, former Wisconsin Congressman Andrew J. Biemiller, points out, however, that labor favors repeal of Landrum-Griffin Act restrictions on picketing and Taft-Hartley Section 14-B which permits the states to enact their own right-to-work laws.

Union legislative programs also favor expansion of minimum wage law coverage to more workers. And Biemiller believes first efforts may be made this year to obtain the 35-hour work week by law, as well as by collective bargaining.

* * *

One of the things labor may have most to fear in this session of Congress is that the major strikes of longshoremen, newspaper employes, aircraft and missile workers now idling over 100,000 men will result in the introduction of much new restrictive legislation.

Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz admits the administration is considering proposals which would permit the government to move into major disputes more rapidly and with more power to effect settlements in the public interest.

There have been no decisions announced yet on what the President might propose to Congress. One difficulty is that mediation procedures authorized by existing law have been used so much that they have been dulled and lost their effectiveness.

Job security, or loss of employment from automation, is one of the major issues in curent disputes. Neither the unions nor management has yet come up with any satisfactory suggestions for laws that might ease the problem. Rep. Elmer J. Holland, D-Pa., of the House Labor committee is planning an exhaustive investigation of the issue this session.

Organized labor leaders still back Kennedy's broad programs on general principles, but they differ with him on details and execution. Unions leaders are as dissatisfied with the President's State of the Union, budget and economic messages as are the organizations representing big business—though for completely different reasons.

Business spokesmen think the President goes too far. Labor spokesmen think he doesn't go far enough or fast enough.

AFL-CIO is for a $9 billion tax cut in the lowest income brackets this year. The $3 billion cut offered by the President is considered too small to do any good in reducing unemployment.

W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, opposes the President's proposal to split the lowest income tax bracket and asks for a go-slow policy on tax revision in the interests of sounder economic growth.

* * *

U. S. Chamber of Commerce President Ladd Plumley has announced a 10-point labor legislation program for his organization.

It calls for putting unions under the antitrust laws, reform of the National Labor Relations Board, amendment of Walsh-Healy and Bacon-Davis acts, permitting the U. S. secretary of labor to set wage floors on government contracts, full state control of unemployment insurance and the U. S. Employment Service.

The Plumley program opposes changes in Taft-Hartley emergency strike provisions and limitation on state right-to-work laws. Expansion of minimum wage law coverage and equal pay for women also are opposed.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has reintroduced his bill to put transport unions under anti-trust law control. Labor leaders claim it would affect other unions, too, and oppose it.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz. has introduced a sweeping labor-management reform bill to curb union bargaining and political power which labor would fight on every detail, bringing on a long hard fight in an already overloaded Congress.

The Doctor Says:

Mother's Tensions Affect Child

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — For at least 10 years I have been getting a dull aching pain in my heart, usually after a headache or when I have overworked. Then I have to slow down and it improves. What can you tell me about this condition?

A — Most pains in the region of the heart, especially of the type you describe, are not associated with any disorder of the heart. There are many causes of pain in this area. Anxiety, particularly anxiety over the state of the heart, is one of the commonest.

This type of pain is characteristidally aggravated by exertion. Conditions that involve the lungs or the digestive organs often cause this kind of pain. A checkup by your doctor, including an X-ray of your chest should reveal the source of the trouble.

Q — I have a growth on the upper and lower lid of my left eye. I have been told that I have zanthomas. Can they be treated and new ones prevented from forming?

A — Xanthoma (pronounced zanthoma) is a yellow discoloration of the eyelids that may be slightly raised above the adjacent tissues. It is usually found near the inner corner of eye and there are usually more than one. They may be removed by surgery or an electric needle. But, because they do not affect one's health, it is better in most coses to let them alone.

Q — What would cause my lower eyelids to puff up during the night? The swelling gradually disappears by noon.

A — Puffiness of the lower lids is the result of a loss of the elasticity of the skin. It appears to run in families, and is aggravated by fatigue. This type of localized swelling is not a sign of any serious ailment. No treatment is required but if the condition is considered unsightly a plastic surgeon may be able to help.

Q — When you give blood through a blood bank what do they check the blood for? If anything is found wrong, is the donor told?

A — The blood is checked for anemia and blood type before it is drawn. The donor's pulse and blood pressure are also taken as these should be within normal limits. Questions are asked about a prospective donor's general health and past illnesses. If a donor is rejected he would surely be told the reason for the rejection.

Q — What can I do about my burning, itching scalp? It keeps me from sleeping.

A — By far the commonest cause of itching of the scalp is dandruff. Once a condition for which there was no effective remedy, there are now many preparations that will control it but there is still no permanent cure. Remedies are available with a physician's prescription.

You may have to try more than one before you find the one best suited to you because the degree of oiliness of the scalp is often a determining factor. Shampooing with tincture of green soap, or a tar soap twice a week may be helpful but this is only one part of the treatment.

Rotary Hears R. C. Primley

Reviewing briefly the history of Gladstone since its site was selected as the east-west terminus of the Soo Line Railroad in 1877, Robert C. Primley, operations manager of Theisen - Clemens Company, St. Joseph, urged Gladstone Rotarians yesterday to prepare for future growth.

"In 1963 the population of our country is 171,000,000 and it is anticipated that our population will grow steadily to 370,000,000 by the year 2010," Primley said. "This means more business as the years progress and business will either go here or somewhere else depending on what is done here."

Early railway men saw a potential in the site of Gladstone, he pointed out. They had a vision. With Gladstone's population the same now as it was decades ago, Primley emphasized that the challenge now is to use our time, talent and money now to assure that Gladstone will participate in the nation's growth.

Harbor Improvement

"International commerce is growing fast," Primley said. "Every port on the west shore of Lake Michigan is planning to be a part of this growth in international trade. It is possible for an ocean going vessel to go from this point to anywhere in the world, and this is a great challenge to Gladstone."

During the past four years great efforts have been made to get the harbor improvement project underway. From $380,000 to $400,000 appropriation is being brought in to improve the harbor, he said.

"Are we community builders?" he challenged his listeners. "A community and its business can be no stronger than the people in the community."

Referring to the Rotary slogan, "Service Above Self . . . He Profits Most Who Serves Best," the speaker cited the example of the founding and development of Theisen-Clemens by men of vision who thought of service above self and built a business and a community and now are interested in the entire area.

Work Together

"We must start working together and spending money to promote this area," he urged.

"As stewards of everything material in this world, we must be sure that a just share of business' proceeds goes back into the community."

The speaker was introduced by Wyland W. Nieuwenkamp, program chairman, and the meeting was conducted by Grant Hess, club president. Student guests introduced were Warren Lewis and Barry McKenzie and other guests were James G. Ward and Charles Burton.

LANSING (AP)—The secretary of state's office reports its enforcement division collected $259,776 last year.

A crackdown on drivers with improper license plates accounted for $101,754 of the total. The remainder came from collections for underweight vehicles, sales and use tax checkups, title and license plate transfers and certain motorboat registration fees.

Gogebic Mural Goes Back Home

A mural depicting the history of Gogebic County, 19 feet long and 7 feet high, exhibited at the U. P. State Fair for the past 10 years, has been returned to the home county to hang in the Ironwood Carnegie Library.

Victor Lemmer, Ironwood historian and one time member of the Fair Board, was instrumental in arranging for the return to Ironwood of the mural painted by William Desotelle, amateur artist and Ironwood telephone switchboard man.

Desotelle painted the mural after one made in the 1930's as a WPA project was damaged and could no longer be displayed. Each of the 15 U. P. counties was represented for years at the Fair with a WPA mural.

Fifteen new murals were commissioned by the Fair Board starting with Gogebic County's for which Desotelle was paid about $1,200. Gogebic's was the last as well as the first.

Because the old exhibition building has been condemned and because the Gogebic County mural was deteriorating under the adverse conditions under which it was displayed, it was agreed the mural would be better preserved and would be of greater public interest exhibited in Gogebic County, said Ray LaPorte, U. P. State Fair manager.

Air Wreck Fatal To Mrs. Widener

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—The artist wife of millionaire sportsman Peter A. B. Widener died in a crash after their private plane made a low pass over the airport where Widener was waiting for her.

In addition to Patricia Widener, 35, the crash killed the Widener family pilot, Robert G. Staab, 40, Ocala.

The plane flew over the airport Sunday night, then disappeared during an apparent attempt to return to this central Florida town in the murky darkness.

The wreckage was found late Monday, nine miles south of the airport in scrub oak woods.

Lt. Col. Dick Lockman, head of the Civil Air Patrol at Orlando, said Staab flew directly over the field at 400 feet on one occasion.

"Mr. Widener saw the plane," Lockman said. "He (Staab) could have been setting up a landing pattern—going downwind and then coming back southeast."

Widener and the former Patricia Massey, married in 1959, had one son, Joseph, 2. Mrs. Widener's daughter by a previous marriage, Genevieve (Viv) Trevander, 11, lives in Palm Beach. Widener has two sons by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Widener was known for her art work and held several exhibitions. The Wideners maintained homes in Palm Beach and at Ocala, where Widener has a 1,000-acre thoroughbred farm.

Widener, 35, is a great grandson of Peter A. B. Widener, Philadelphia traction magnate. His grandfather, the late Joseph E. Widener, built Hialeah Park race track at Miami in the 1930s. Widener is a director.

Sports Cut-Off Creates Protest

IRON RIVER — The Stambaugh Township Board of Education, under fire for the drastic curtailments in extra-curricular activities made last week on the heels of the defeat of the $450,000 bond issue, has defended its action, pointing out that the state fire marshal has demanded that some progress be shown to indicate that fire safety requirements are being met.

The school board explained that the state fire marshal gave the board five years to complete the fire safety program, but in so doing, demanded that an immediate start be made to correct the deficiencies in fire and safety features noted during his inspection in July.

The board states the fire marshal was scheduled to return within 90 days to check on the progress, but had been delayed. However, he is due next week, and since the board can show no progress, he may close the central building entirely.

The mounting school crisis in Stambaugh has prompted renewed calls for the consolidation of the Iron River, Stambaugh and Bates school districts, which proponents claim, would eliminate much of the present duplication of facilities, provide much wider educational opportunities for local youth, enabling them to compete for jobs with their counterparts from other areas, and would relieve the present individual districts of much of the cost load.

While consolidation would not be cheaper, proponents claim it would provide the more sensible means of solving the present school crisis, and would serve to free the present buildings for junior high and elementary grade use, providing adequate physical plants for educational purposes for many years to come.

Action was followed by reaction in a relatively short span, after the Stambaugh Township Board of Education had announced the curtailment of athletic programs and clubs in the schools.

Pension Fraud Admitted Here

Oscar Greenwald, 72, of 221 N. 14th St., today pleaded guilty in Escanaba Municipal Court to a charge of defrauding the Bureau of Social Aid and the case was continued until Judge James Fitzharris can meet with representatives of the agency to work out a method of restitution.

Greenwald in a statement signed for police and referred to Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas P. Chapekis admitted that he:

"Knowingly and wilfully received Old Age Assistance, to which I was not entitled, when I worked at Mackinac Island the summers of 1961 and 1962. I intentionally did not report this income to the Bureau of Social Aid."

The amount of the money to which Greenwald pleaded guilty of defrauding the agency totaled $282. The arrest was made by Escanaba police.

Votes Pile Up Against Ruling Party In Canada

With two vacancies in the 265-member House of Commons, 132 votes are needed to unseat the government if all members vote.

Dragging Its Heels

The Social Credit party has 30 seats and appeared to have a good chance of getting the 99 Liberal votes. An informal poll of the third opposition party, the New Democrats with 19 seats, indicated they would join the antigovernment ranks.

The Conservatives, with 115 seats, have been exercising minority rule since the elections last June but have managed to stay in power with Social Credit support.

On the nuclear issue, Diefenbaker has maintained that the U.S.-British Polaris agreement at Nassau has cast doubt on the wisdom of a Canadian nuclear role. He also said greater emphasis must be placed on non-nuclear weapons.

Earlier debate in Commons on the issue brought a statement from the State Department last Wednesday that nuclear weapons are necessary to the U.S.-Canadian defense of North America and that during recent secret negotiations Canada had been dragging its heels on the question.

In Canada, Conservatives as well as the opposition sought to draw political advantage from what Diefenbaker labeled "unwarranted intrusion" into Canadian affairs.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk later expressed regret if the wording of the statement offended Canadians. He repeated to the Senate Canadian Affairs subcommittee Monday that no offense was meant.

Former Resident Taken By Death

Mrs. Edna Doran, 89, of Longview, Wash., a former resident of Escanaba, died in her sleep at her home at 5 a. m., Monday.

Mrs. Doran was born in Wexford County of Lower Michigan July 18, 1876 and came to Escanaba about 1931. She remained here until 1939 when she moved to Longview to live with her son, LeRoy.

In 1955 she returned to Escanaba where she lived until 1957 with her son, James Doran of 1206 N. 21st St. In 1957 she returned to Longview.

Her husband died in 1940. Mrs. Doran was a member of St. Thomas Church of Escanaba.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Orville (Donna) Tiege of Longview and Mrs. Dorothy Rassminson of Green Bay; three sons, James of Escanaba, Benjamin of Racine and LeRoy of Longview; 22 grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday in Longview. Burial will be in that city.

Charged Battery Costs Her $800

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — All Mary Nelson wanted was a car battery charge. The total charge: $800.

A mechanic returned to auto to her home Monday and left the motor running.

Police said engine vibrations apparently caused the gearshift to slip into drive position. The car lurched driverless across the street and slammed into a house.

In Wisconsin, homing pigeons are protected by law.

Zene Malette Called By Death

Zene Malette, 56, of Flat Rock, Rte. 1, died in his sleep this morning following an illness of about two weeks.

Mr. Malette was born April 16, 1906 in Escanaba Township and had been a resident of Flat Rock all his life.

He operated a large farm in the Flat Rock area. He was not married.

Survivors include one brother, Evangelist; and four sisters, Mrs. Albert Sauve, Mrs. John Palequin and Mrs. Eugene Gamarche, all of Escanaba, and Mrs. Arthur Labombard of Detroit.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home where friends may call after 3 p. m., Wednesday.

Funeral services will be conducted from the funeral home at 3 p. m., Thursday.

Set Trial Date For U. P. Woman In Assault Case

IRON MOUNTAIN — Mrs. Edna Cornell, 35, of Kingsford, charged with assault with intent to commit murder in the stabbing of her husband, Merrill, 40, on Thanksgiving Day, pleaded not guilty when she appeared before Judge Ernest W. Brown at the opening of Dickinson County Circuit Court Monday.

Mrs. Cornell, represented by Attorney V. Robert Payant, came to court accompanied by her husband.

Judge Brown set jury trial for Mrs. Cornell for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued a traffic summons to Keith T. Wilson, Bark River Rte. 1, for failing to yield the right of way.

Sand Island at the Ludington Park Harbor entrance had a visitor the other day—a large bobcat. The animal was seen Monday by Harold Ball and Dwayne Hamelin, city water plant employes, who notified police. Officers said tracks indicated the bobcat had gone east across the ice, apparently heading for the Stonington Pennisula. Last year in early summer Sgt. Robert Crepeau of the police department shot and killed a bobcat which had been seen lurking in the area.

Ann Landers

Lady Piano-Mover?

Dear Ann Landers: My boy friend was over last night and we were sitting on the sofa watching TV. He accidentally brushed my head with his arm and my earring fell off. It rolled under the piano which was a few feet away.

I asked him to please move the piano and get my earring. He said, "It's less dangerous, physically, for a woman to move a piano than for a man." He refused to budge.

For your information, Ann, he is a 180 pound construction worker and I happen to know he handles a sledge-hammer that weighs almost as much as our piano. I told him I didn't think his attitude was very gentlemanly. He claims any doctor will tell you that women have stronger constitutions than men and they live longer. He said I should move the piano myself.

What do you have to say about this, Ann Landers? — MYRTLE

Dear Myrtle: Have you ever seen a lady piano-mover?

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in the Navy, aboard the U. S. S. Enterprise. I've never asked for advice through the mails before and I'm surprise that I'm doing it now, but I need help.

My girl is driving me crazy. She wants to get married when I get my next shore leave. I'm 21 and have one year and eight months of service ahead of me. I want to wait until I can assume the financial responsibilities of a husband.

The girl's parents are in favor of a wedding now. They say the separations would't be so hard on her if we were married. I say they'd be worse. My parents think I should wait, but they are willing to go along with anything I decide.

I love this girl and I don't want to lose her. Her last letter said "Now or never." Help me, please. — NO COMPASS

Dear No Compass: Stick to your battle station, Sailor. If the girl really loves you she'll wait. If she doesn't want to wait then you haven't lost a great deal.

Your reasoning is mature and sound. Hers is juvenile.

Dear Ann Landers: We were married in 1933. Times were tough and we had to watch every penny. We weathered the storm, had four nice children and things got better. Then the war came and my husband's business boomed.

Three of our children are through college and doing nicely. Our youngest son will graduate in June. My husband refuses to build me a nice home or even spend the money necessary to remodel this one. He says he wants to leave our children well fixed when he dies, and that he and I don't "need anything."

I feel I've earned a few comforts and that he should not be so concerned with leaving a large inheritance. We both want your thinking on this. He says you are a practical woman and will side with him. — PLENTY TIRED

Dear Tired: The poor guy has clenched his fist so long he's unable to relax and enjoy the fruits of his labors.

I say you have earned a new house. And if you want one, he should be happy to buy you one. As for leaving the children a large inheritance, the finest legacy a father can leave his children is independence and the initiative to make it on their own.

★ ★ ★

Confidential to Bread Upon the Waters: I'd say you're getting back sandwiches. Things turned out a great deal better than you had a right to expect. Be grateful.

Confidential to In Love With Hula Hands: Don't look now but I think she has her hula hands in your pocket. For a two-time loser you are not very akaami.

SERVED HIM RIGHT

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP) — A certain father here took note of the fact that one of his three daughter was receiving seven letters each week from the same boy. One afternoon, when he was alone at home, he spotted one of the notes on a table. "Now what do you suppose these kids find to write about so much?" he thought, and, yielding to temptation, he opened the letter and began to read.

"I'd come to see you more often," the boy had written, "but your nosy old father is always snooping around spying on us."

Founders' Day Marked By Escanaba Area PTA

A large attendance marked the Escanaba Area Parent Teachers Association Founders' Day program held Monday evening at the Franklin School, in observance of the 66th anniversary of the organization.

The PTA was founded in Feb. 17, 1897, in Washington, D. C., by Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst. Because interested persons gave their support, the flame kindled by the founders, has become the glowing story of the PTA, a story that has been told many times in the past 66 years. It is the moving history of millions of men and women working together on a common cause, "Where Children Come First."

Mrs. M. H. Garrard Jr. and Debby Olsen, Karen Hivala, Scott Bright and John Deidrich led the audience in the singing of the National Anthem.

Introductions

Mrs. Carlton Johnson, president of the Escanaba Area Council gave the welcoming address. She stressed that the PTA is just as distinctly American as the Nation Anthem or the 4th of July. It is fathers, mothers, teachers, school administrators and other interested citizens doing for children, what no individual can do by himself. Mrs. Johnson then introduced the officers of the Council, Mrs. William Miller, 1st vice president, Mrs. Clarence Gerdeen, secretary, and Mrs. Leo Niquette, treasurer. Area presidents introduced were Mrs. Gerald Hanneman, Junior High, Richard Shilney, Ford River, Mrs. Robert Ham, Franklin, Mrs. Alan Sanville, Jefferson, Rene Lippens, John Lemmer, Mrs. Sig Ericksen, Webster, and Mrs. Glen Larsen, Wells.

Silent contemplation of the PTA prayer followed, with piano accompaniment by Marlene Severinsen, a sixth grader in Pine Ridge School.

Service Awards

Betty Hansen, sophomore in the Escanaba Senior High sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Without a Song", accompanied by Mrs. Garrard.

Mrs. Johnson presented distinguished service awards to three outstanding citizens, for their dedicated work with and for the children and youth of the community. They were: Mrs. Rene Labre, for her services to handicapped children, especially those with hearing defects; the Rev. Erland Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Church, for organizing the swimming program for the benefit of the children in the North Escanaba area, providing transportation to and from Ludington Park; Charles Follo, for his part in making the Community College a possibility. In their names money was contributed by the Area PTA Council, to the Mildred Thompson Student Loan Fund of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers. These loans are used for students and teachers in financial need, with preference to those recommended by the local PTAs.

Walter Bright, superintendent of Public Schools, spoke briefly about the necessity of the approval of the School Bond issue.

Franklin, Pine Ridge and Washington Schools were given attendance awards.

Mrs. Paul Corcoran, Ford River School explained the purpose of the Founders Day Gift offering, it is used to make possible state and national leadership training programs and setting up channels of information through which PTA's get help in promoting their activities.

The audience was pleasantly entertained with a skit, "100 Years Ago" presented by Mesdames Robert E. Meyer, Irwin TenHaken, Russell Huhn, Jack Berg, Sherwood Trotter and John Chernick, with Mrs. Robert Ham, PTA president and Founder's Day Chairman, as narrator.

Ontonagon, Indians Retain Top Ratings

By The Associated Press

The State High School Basketball Tournament starts a month from tonight—and the way the season has been going Benton Harbor, River Rouge, Ontonagon and Champion will open the three-week test as favorites.

No team has been able to budge this haughty quartet from top ranking all season. For the fifth straight week, the same teams led The Associated Press prep polls today.

It was a familiar story as Benton Harbor (11-0) was voted No. 1 in Class A by the AP's panel of Michigan sports writers and sportscasters. River Rouge (12-1) again was tops in Class B. Ontonagon (13-0) retained its leadership in Class C and Champion (12-0) continued at the head of Class D.

The only change among No. 2 teams was in Class B. Vassar (11-0) moved up a notch into second with Hudsonville Unity Christian (11-1) dropping to third.

Two newcomers joined the top ten elite in Class A. Onrushing Pontiac Central (6-4) was voted into ninth position and Alpena (8-1) took 10th.

Perry (10-0) captured third spot in Class C, a gain of one place, after Grosse Pointe St. Paul (9-1) suffered its first loss and dropped to a tie for seventh.

Cheboygan Catholic Central (11-0) made its first appearance in Class C's top ten, taking fifth position.

Only one of last year's state champions still rates top ten merit—River Rouge. Muskegon Christian, the Class C ruler last March, was the latest to fall out, joining Class A Saginaw and Class D Flint St. Matthew.

The voting based on 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for a second etc. through 1 point for a 10th-place vote:

Boddy's Indians Seeking Second Unbeaten Season

MARQUETTE—Champion High School, one of two undefeated basketball teams in the Upper Peninsula, begins a drive this week to join a very select group.

Coach Fred J. Boddy's Indians, idle last week after winning 12 consecutive games, still have seven more regular-season opponents to face through March 1. And if they should finish atop all seven they would be only the eighth school in modern-day basketball in the U. P. to go through two successive campaigns with unblemished records.

Champion and Escanaba Holy Name were the only unbeatens during the 1961-62 season. This winter Ontonagon and Champion have all-winning marks.

Also, seven more victories would give Champion a 19-0 mark to tie the all-time record posted by Rudyard for a single season in 1959-60. Normally a school is limited to 18 games during a regular season, but participation in a tournament counts only two games (even if a team plays three), so that Champion will be playing its 19th contest on March 1.

Since 1950, only three schools—Alpha, Houghton and Chassell — have been unbeaten through two campaigns in a row.

Incomplete records immediately available show that prior to the 1940s only Ishpeming, Marquette Baraga and Crystal Falls had posted all-winning records for two consecutive seasons. Mass, on its way to 59 victories in a row, did it in the 1940s.

The all-time records of consecutive victories, both regular-season and tournament games, is 65, held by Chassell. The Panthers, in fact, almost went through three seasons with perfect marks, losing only one game, to Trout Creek, midway in the 1955-56 campaign, before beginning their 65-game win streak.

But Champion faces several tough opponents — five of the seven are believed capable of stopping the Indians — before it can reach its goal.

Immediately at hand is a game Wednesday night with Marquette Baraga. The two teams met in the finals of the Northern Michigan holiday tournament, Champion winning by one point. Baraga, an up-and-down team which can beat the best of 'em on certain nights, is fresh from a 51-39 victory over Negaunee St. Paul, which earlier in the season lost to Champion in overtime.

After Rapid River Friday night, Champion then will have to face Negaunee St. Paul and Brimley in one week. If Boddy's cagers get by St. Paul, their game at Brimley certainly will be one of the biggest of the season, for the Bays have a 12-1 record. Their only loss, in November, was at Champion.

Brimley, incidentally, has nearly the same lineup which last March snapped Champion's 22-game win streak in the state quarter-finals.

Doelle, Republic and National Mine, all Mid-Peninsula Conference opponents, are the other teams left on Champion's schedule.

Going into this week's activity, the Indans have won 34 out of 35 games in two years under Boddy, former Escanaba High School and Northern Michigan College athlete.

Pacing Champion all the way, just as he did last year, is Bill Koski, 5-foot-11 senior. He has scored 364 points in 12 games, second highest in the Upper Peninsula this winter and well ahead of his own mark as a junior. Other regulars on the Class D regional titlists' roster are Ron Kulie, Ken Dionne, Wayne Wiljanen and Richard Koski.

Bearcats Tougher In Second Clash

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati's streaking Bearcats have posted another triumph in their drive to establish themselves as one of college basketball's all-time top teams, settling a minor score in the bargain.

Fired by the shooting of Ron Bonham and showing their customary tenacious defense, the Bearcats recorded a 71-60 victory Monday night over the Drake team that threw a scare into them last week. Drake took the nation's No. 1 club into overtime Thursday night before falling 65-60.

Cincinnati now is 18-0 this season and has won 36 straight over-all for the third longest victory string ever. San Francisco holds the record of 60 in a row in 1954-56 and North Carolina won 37 straight in 1957-58. Cincy will have a shot at tying North Carolina's total this Saturday against Bradley.

In Monday night's other headline attractions—fourth-ranked Illinois strengthened its Big Ten lead by outlasting Indiana 104-101 in a free-wheeling affair; Oklahoma State toppled seventh-ranked Colorado 52-49 and threw the Big Eight race wide open; Mississippi State pushed into a first-place tie in the Southeastern Conference by whipping Tulane 91-73; fifth-ranked Arizona State ran over New Mexico State 89-62; and Georgia Tech, No. 6, needed some clutch work by a pair of reserves to squeeze by William and Mary 50-49.

Cincinnati took a while to assume command in their Missouri alley match at Drake, trailing by as much as five points in the first half. But with Bonham pumping in 15 points in a 10-minute span before intermission the Bearcats left the floor with a two-point edge. Cincinnati limited the Bulldogs to 22 points in the second half and held them scoreless the final three minutes.

Bonham finished with 31 points and, to prove he is no slouch defensively, did a brilliant job on Drake sophomore Gene West, who had scored 21 against Bonham in the squeaker last Thursday night. West got only 2 Monday night.

Weather Again Postpones Game

The Cooks-Grand Marais prep basketball game scheduled Saturday night at Grand Marais was postponed again because of the bad weather.

If possible, the game will be played tonight, Coach Norman Jahn of Cooks reported.

Sunday Closing Has Exemptions

The Schoolcraft Board of Supervisors Monday passed a resolution exempting business places in the county from the Sunday closing law recently passed by the Michigan Legislature. The action here is to provide accommodations for tourists.

Bonds of County officers were approved during the session as follows: Robert Leny, Robert Broullire, Donald Messier, Jacob Weber and Fred Williams, $1,000; Franklyn Burgess, $2,000; W. J. Sheahan, Lloyd Gray and Fred Lesica, $10,000; William Cowman, $30,000.

During a report on the assessors meeting in Houghton, it was noted exemptions must now come under state valuations, so uniformity is followed. A report of the state supervisors meeting in Lansing and resolutions adopted by them also was presented.

The resolutions include one that the State Association recommend a joint study committee of House and Senate be established to review the manner in which timberlands are assessed and the possibility of a flat rate assessment to encourage people to improve forest lands. Lindslay Frenette introduced the resolution.

Purchase of more plat books and county maps, the latter on a 50-50 basis with the Road Commission was approved. Permission for the Forest Service to purchase two lot from private owners on Banana Lake was granted. The Forest Service also reported Indian River color folders were ready to be sent to printers.

The airport expansion report noted clearing was to be completed in a week and that the county had received an intercom which is now operating and that the Road Commission had turned over its snow-fighter to the airport.

Annual reports of various departments were presented.

CAN OPENER IS FRIEND

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother in a family of five people can expect to have opened 1,250 cans by the end of 1962, according to "Steel Facts," a publication of American Iron and Steel Institute.

Canmakers estimate that this year's production will reach 47 billion cans, up nearly 1.5 billion units from last year, and equal to 250 cans for every man, woman and child in the U. S. A record total of 5.2 million tons of steel will be used.

One of the reasons for the rising total has been ascribed to the increased use of tinplate containers for soft drinks. Preliminary figures indicate 1.7 billion cans of soft drinks this year, up 45 per cent from last year.

Community Plan Proposal Told

Charles Leman of the planning firm of Villican-Leman, which is doing work for Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie spoke to Rotary Monday, in a program arranged by Otmer Schuster and outlined work it would do for the Manistique community. Consultations with Fred Hahne, county plan chairman and Carl Olson, school superintendent, were scheduled later.

A two-year contract proposal will be presented to the city shortly, Leman said and if approved, work will commence in April, following state approval in March.

The work would include an inventory of resources, Community desires, possibilities in the U. P. framework and other factors. Population growth expectations would be studied, with residential planning, schools and their needs, recreation, land use and housing conditions to be considered.

Then a commercial study would follow, Leman said, and in this a variety of factors would be considered, including the dollar volume potential of the Manistique community. The duplication of needs due to the "spread out" character of the town, with shopping areas on both sides of the river were among characteristics he cited as presenting difficulties. An industrial study would also be included along with a traffic flow study, capital improvement program and a zoning ordinance would then be adopted to effect the plan.

Next week Rotary will have a program by Clyde Davis, sportsman who will show color film.

Flirting With Death

Don't Park With Motor Running!

LANSING — "If you sit in a parked car with the motor running, you're taking a gamble with death," warns State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustic.

Alarmed at the increasing number of young couples found dead or overcome by carbon monoxide in parked cars, Dr. Heustis urged parents to admonish their children not to sit in parked cars with the motor running.

"There are a number of reasons why this is unwise," the commissioner said. "But the primary reason right now is the possibility of being killed or overcome by carbon monoxide fumes leaking into the car."

With the exception of scientific equipment, there is no foolproof method of detecting the presence of this silent killer, which is completely odorless and colorless. In the confined area of an automobile, there is a rapid buildup of carbon monoxide which can overwhelm the occupants without the common symptoms of carbon monoxide exposure — headache, nausea, "smarting" eyes. As a result, the victims are usually overcome rather suddenly without warning.

"The best way to prevent accidental carbon monoxide exposure in a car is simply never to sit in one with the motor running and the windows closed," Dr. Heustis said.

The Health Department doesn't have a complete record of all incidents, but based on newspaper clippings, at least a dozen young people are known to have died in this manner during the past two months.

With two or three more months of cold weather ahead, Dr. Heustis is afraid that this number will be more than doubled before the winter is over.

Carbon monoxide deaths are not confined to young people in parked automobiles, however. At least 45 people have been killed by carbon monoxide so far this winter, and more than a hundred others overcome.

In addition to parked cars, sources of carbon monoxide have been faulty furnaces and chimneys, charcoal heaters, kerosene stoves, defective hot water heaters, malfunctioning gas refrigerators, and faulty ventilating systems.

Attack Mapped On Leaf Beetle

LANSING (AP)—Plans for an aerial attack of 25 planes against the cereal leaf beetle next spring have been outlined by the Department of Agriculture.

Presence of the beetle was reported in North American for the first time in Berrien and Cass counties last July, and since then 20 townships in the counties have been placed under quarantine for the pest.

The quarantine also applies to some adjoining territory in Indiana.

Agriculture experts consider the beetle, which has been known in Europe since 1891, to pose one of the greatest threats to grains ever to appear in this country. Damage of up to 75 per cent to grain crops have been reported.

In a recent meeting of the Michigan Agricultural Commission, tentative plans for the anti-beetle battle were disclosed.

Department experts said 25 small planes would be used in applying an insecticide (malathion) to about 35,000 acres beginning in May.

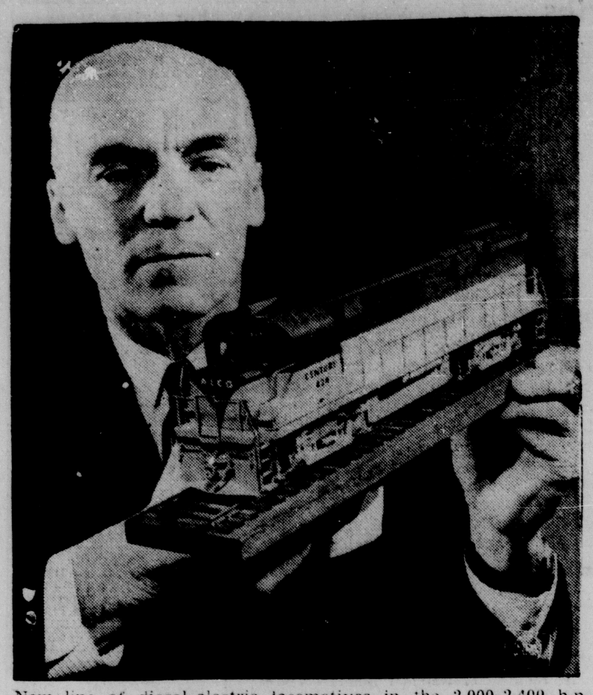
Michigan's share of the cost between now and the start of the next fiscal year in July is estimated at $80,000. Federal funds also are to be used on the project.

Dr. Cretens Plans Conference Talks

Dr. Mary Cretens, health director for Delta and Menominee counties, will have an important role when health officers representing virtually every county in the state meet in Lansing for the 13th annual State Health Commissioner's Conference, Feb. 6-7-8.

Dr. Cretens is one of four public health doctors who planned one of the two major conference discussions, a program on local control of tuberculosis.

As a co-featured topic, health officials will talk over how best to use federal funds to meet local health needs.



New line of diesel-electric locomotives in the 2,000-2,400 h.p. range is going into production. They will outdate typical 1,600 h.p. units built in the 1948-1952 period — the diesels which put the Iron Horse out to pasture. Some 5,000 to 6,000 of the new "ancient" diesels are expected to be replaced within the next five years, according to Alco Products president William G. Miller, shown with model of the new locomotive, above.

Overeater Dies At 740 Pounds

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two weeks ago, when Charles Steinmetz weighed 670 pounds, he said: "I haven't got much time left. I crave food like an alcoholic craves alcohol.'

Steinmetz, 38, died Sunday in a hospital. Doctors said he weighed 740 pounds at death—a gain of 70 pounds in two weeks.

Steinmetz complained of lung congestion Saturday. It took 16 men to load him into the rear of a delivery truck for the trip to the hospital. Cause of death awaited the outcome of an autopsy.

Steinmetz, who was 68 inches tall and 76 inches around, said each pound he gained brought him nearer to death, but he couldn't stop. "Other people smoke or drink when they worry. I find myself a chicken."

At the age of 8, Steinmetz was underweight. He started gaining rapidly in his late teens. He worked 16 years as a typist, retiring on a medical pension in 1959 when he reached 585 pounds.

He said doctors told him there was nothing organically wrong. "I have no health problem, no diabetic trouble—just overeating," he said.

Trucking Rates Go Up In State

LANSING — Forty Michigan trucking firms will raise their rates 3½ per cent Feb. 20 unless shippers protest, the Public Service Commission announces.

The rate increase would amount to about $1,100,000 a year, the PSC estimated.

Unaffected by the increases would be iron and steel, paper, machinery, petroleum products, household goods and cement products.

The truckers and representatives of large shippers agreed to the rate increase at a meeting Jan. 18 after the truckers sought a 6 per cent hike. If protests are filed with the PSC, the rate boost will be suspended until after public hearings are held.

Increased labor costs in Teamsters Union contracts were the main reason given for the higher rates by the truckers.

Quitting School Is Family Trait

Students who quit school probably have parents who did likewise, says an article in the February National Education Association Journal.

Percy V. Williams, supervisor of pupil services for the Maryland State Department of Education, which made a dropout study in his state, writes that answers to 13,715 questionnaires produced no evidence that dropouts are especially delinquent, motivated by homelessness or broken homes, or lacking in intelligence. As a matter of fact, he says, 79 per cent were not thought to be serious behavioral problems, 80 per cent lived with one parent and 70 per cent with both, and half had average intelligence and above.

It was found, however, that 78.5 per cent of the mothers of dropouts and 80.3 per cent of their fathers had themselves left school early. Thus, 63 per cent of the fathers and 56.7 per cent of the mothers completed only nine years of school, and 30.9 per cent of the fathers and 24.4 per cent of the mothers completed only the sixth grade.

Among other findings were that two-thirds of the dropouts never participated in athletics or extra-curricular activities and that many more students in the general course than in the commercial, vocational, or academic dropped out. The skill that seemed to be most needed by the dropouts was reading. More than 45.5 per cent of them at the time they dropped out were reading at the sixth grade level or below.

Among 16 reasons for quitting school, 35.3 per cent of the dropouts cited lack of interest and 17.8 per cent of the responses reported lack of success.

Public Invited To Discussion Of New Constitution

Robert E. Smith, associate legislative counsel of the Michigan Farm Bureau, will give local residents a comprehensive report on the proposed new constitution and what its provisions imply at a public meeting Monday evening, Feb. 11 at 8 in the John Lemmer School.

The meeting, which is open to the public, is being sponsored by the Delta County Farm Bureau.

"Smith is well informed on the proposed new constitution," reports John Marcella of Cornell, president of the Delta County Farm Bureau. "He attended all the sessions of the recent constitutional convention which drafted the new document, and will welcome any questions concerning the new constitution."

Michigan will vote on ratification of the new constitution on April 1.

Former Detroit Private Retires As Lt. Colonel

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — A soldier who was awarded the Army's first battlefield commission during World War II retired Saturday as a lieutenant colonel.

Jack A. Clark, of Detroit, Mich., was honored with a farewell parade by troops of the U.S. Army in the Ryukyu Islands.

Clark enlisted as a private in the 32nd Division, Michigan National Guard, in 1939. He was inducted into the federal service October, 1940.

His division saw action at Papua, New Guinea, Leyte and Luzon campaigns.

During the Papua Campaign Clark was awarded a battlefield commission and a Bronze Star Medal.

Clark also saw action in five Korean campaigns.

He plans to remain in Okinawa.

Stambaugh High Discontinues Band

STAMBAUGH—Until a solution can be found, the band program at the Stambaugh township schools has been discontinued along with other non-scholastic activities ordered by the board of education as the result of the defeat earlier this month of the $450,000 bond issue.

Fate of the school's instrumental program was decided when no rooms could be found for band instruction following the closing of the third floor of the Central Building ordered by the fire marshal, where classes have been held.

Cutting of the band program affected 114 students, according to Ed Kukuk, principal. All of the instruments were called in last week and students have been assigned to study halls for the periods ordinarily spent in band.

It is expected the board of education will endeavor to revise the bond issue proposal and present it to the electorate within 90 days.

GRADUATES ARE WORKING

CHICAGO (AP)—The U. S. Department of Labor reports, through Commerce Clearing House, that the national unemployment rate as of October 1961 among high school graduates was 16 per cent; among high school dropouts 30 per cent.
